A1:

It is our opinion that the Intelligence Community should support an Option like Option 3 (defer commitment pending further studies), with provision for the examination of additional concepts.

As was noted at the DCI off-site conference, the resources required for large projects, such as this and the survivability proposals, could have a negative impact on our peacetime intelligence capabilities.

Attached are specific comments from the Directorates of Intelligence and Science and Technology. In the interest of time, these are presented without editing and should only be used for internal discussions.
